

Welcome to SatalKeto.co.uk, after several months of down time I have decided to rebuild the website and start filling it with content again. Particularly on programming with VB.Net, programming in general and the program design.

I will be uploading all the old articles and adding many more new ones over the next couple of months, so please bare with me while I populate the website.

I have also decided to use a premade CMS this time instead of writing my own from scratch, this may only be a temporary thing as I am considering moving the entire website to an ASP.Net hosting as that is my main web programming language these days and I would like to be able to create my own CMS using that, but only time will tell whether I have enough free time to be able to create my own ASP.Net CMS, if I get a ASP.Net CMS as a stepping stone towards building my own ASP.Net CMS or whether I'm just going to stick to Joomla.

If you have any questions or suggestions that you would like to send to me then feel free to email me at SatalKeto@gmail.com.
